

Alex Schulz

From Wikipedia the free encyclopaedia

Alex Schulz (born in Rockhampton 25th August 2002) is a champion free runner and designed the largest building on the planet.

Early Life

Alex started free running at the age of 9 and started thinking about being an architect at 11 years old when he was designing and building little houses in his back yard.

Free Running

Alex started free running because he liked running around and running through hard core obstacle courses. Alex trains down in the bush by running and jumping through the trees and jumping over small creeks.

Architect

Alex started architecting at the age of 11 and has designed some of the best buildings in the world including the tallest sky scraper in the world "Pando" in Tokyo, Japan.

Private Life

Alex was married to actress Tara Blunt in 2026 and has 2 children.